If those cool pants fit...

TORONTO — As temperatures soar, Pro-Vents Apparel Ltd. says sweaty people can find some relief by wearing ventilated pants.

The Toronto company says its "one-of-a-kind trousers combine the protection of long pants with the comfort of shorts."

Pro-Vents partner Mitchell Zuckerman said injury or even loss of life, especially on the job, is a genuine concern when temperatures top 40 C. The patent-pending trousers were developed by James Silver, a former Hamilton steelworker.
